

Eric Feigenbaum
Managing Director, Expedia.co.jp

Eric Feigenbaum is Managing Director of Expedia.co.jp

Eric Feigenbaum has lived and worked in Japan for more than 13 years and brings extensive experience in the Japanese internet and financial industries to Expedia. As Managing Director for Japan, Feigenbaum is responsible for launching expedia.co.jp and ensuring the global excellence of Expedia is customized for Japanese travelers.

Prior to joining Expedia, Feigenbaum spent seven years at Yahoo! Most recently he was Senior Director of Product for Overture Japan, a wholly owned subsidiary of Yahoo! Inc where he was responsible for product strategy, development, and deployment. Feigenbaum also spent four years with Merrill Lynch Japan in equity research and structured finance.

Feigenbaum holds an MBA from Stanford Graduate School of Business, and BAs in Japanese and Political Science from University of California, Berkeley. He is a Chartered Financial Analyst, in good standing since 1998.